

Assignments for Round Table Discussion

Below are the list of stakeholder groups, along with the identify and affiliation of an actual person who is a part of that stakeholder group on Cape Cod. The actual names aren't listed for you to contact the individual (We respectfully ask you refrain from contacting them directly, some are no longer in that position) All of these folks were part of the conversations around changes in wildlife, and many have been interviewed by the media, so you can find quotes from them, or information pertaining to sharks on their company or organizations website. Some have more content than others, which is why some groups have multiple names or affiliations to research to try and provide everyone with ample content to understand that stakeholder group.
